GOVERNMENT WRONG, SAYS J. OGDEN ARMOUR

Thinks End Can Be Attained in Better Way Than Indicting Shippers.

CHICAGO, Dec. 15,-In an interview here togight regarding the indictments returned by the Pederal court at Kansas returned by the Pederal court at Kansas City J. Ogden Armour, head of the Artaour Packing company, said:
"I understand the charges relate entirely to saipments from Kansas City to Europe. In each case the packers have paid the full rate extable let by the railroad on such aldpinents. This rate was open to anybedy making such shipments and there was not any Tebale concession or discrimination, whitever to the shipper in respect of this transaction.

Long Mooted Question.

Long Mooted Question.

Long Mooted Question.

"It has long been a question between the Interstate Commerce commission and the railreads whether the transportation of property from interior cities of the United States upon a through rate over railreads and ocean steamships to foreign countries is within the provisions of the interstate commerce act or the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce commission. I understand that the Burlington railread has consistently maintained the position that it is not, and so has refused to file such tariffs with the Interstate Commerce commission.

Shippage M. Gestel

Shippers No Control.

Shippers No Control.

"So far as I can see, the question raised by these indictments is whether the railroads are required to file with the interstate Commerce commission and publish the through tarrif on such through shipments to Europe. With that question, the shippers, like the packers here, would have no control or concern. The indictment against the Armour company, for instance, involves two shipments, one to Christiania. Norway, and the other to Hamburg. The tarrif charged by the railroad and paid by the Armour company was the regular through rate established by the railroads, which was open to everybody who might wish to ship, and the shipper did not either solicit or receive any rebate or concession from such established rates.

Are Other Methods,

"It will be seen that if the Government lesires to have the contention of the railroads that that are not required to life or publish these tariffs, passed upon by the courts, and I understand the railroad companies have frequently urged hat course upon the Interstate Commiscion, it could be better accomplished by some other proceedings or method than by the indictment of shippers.

No. Now Thing

No New Thing.

"I understand that the foreign ship-ients of cotton are and always have een required to be made in the same may as the shipments which are made way as the shipments which are made the basis of these indictments against the packers. This is no new thing. It has been openly going on for years without compaint and with the knowledge of the Interstats Commerce commission, not only with the Burlington read, but other roads which have maintained the same position upon the question as the Bur-lington and with all foreign shippers without discrimination."

President Smith presided over the meeting and announced the various speakers, but made no address himself. The services opened with a solo, "Oh Love Divine," by Horace S. Ensign. Invocation was offered by President John R. Winder,

List of Donors Read.

At the conclusion of the reading of this report Pasident Smith asked Secretary Wells to read all the names of the donors, as the public would be interested. The list read was as follows: Ron. Thomas Kearns, David Keith, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph William Taylor, Henry Dinwoodey, Julia M. Brixen, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Barton, Dr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Allen, John C. Cuifer, Dr. and Mrs. Fred Stauffer, John B. Maiben, estate William C. Staines, Dr. and Mrs. L. W. Snow, Descret News company, Lewis S. Hills, Theresa H. Hills, Joseph E. Welcomed by Bishop Burton.

Welcomed by Bishop Burton.

Bishop Burton delivered the address of welcome on behalf of the trustess of the hospital, who were very proud of the institution which is a credit to the city and to the State and the gifts of the donors were greatly appreciated. The speaker stated that he desired to correct the misunderstanding that had gone forth in regard to the policy of the hospital which was to the effect that the hospital was for the members of the church only. It matters not what a man's religion or politics are, whether he is rich or poor, all receive the same consideration and attention, declared the speaker.

Indigent Cases Treated.

Indigent Cases Treated.

Bishop Burton stated that during the year's history of the hospital a large number of indigent cases had been treated, which was a drain upon the funds of the institution and that additional funds must be raised to meet current expenses so that the debt would not drag upon the hospital. This fund could probably be raised by domation, said the speaker, who closed by saying the hospital was one of the finest west of Chicago.

Dr. Richards Heard.

Dr. Richards Heard.

Dr. Joseph S. Richards was introduced as the second speaker, who began his remarks by stating that congratulations were in order to the trustees, the first presidency and the friends of the hospital. The duties of the nurses, stated Dr. Richards, in speaking of the nurses, were very exacting, and they must have a place for rest and recreation and not be confined to the hospital building when not on duty. The speaker closed by stating that too much credit could not be paid Superintendent Wells for the equipment arrangement and condition the buildings are in.

President Lund Speaks.

President Lund Speaks.

The third speaker introduced was President Anthon H. Lund, who confined his remarks to the matter of the building and dedication of the same. In part he said that it afforded him great pleasure to be present at the occasion of the dedication of the building, which was a great need of the hospital. In the main building where the nurses staved prior to the erection of the cottage they had always had to be quiet and careful, so that there was practically no rest for them, and the new cottage became a necessity. The nurses are the most important help about a hospital and must be rested and strengthened to enable them to engage in the noble work of alleviating the sufferings of the sick and wounded. President Lund closed his remarks by saying that "for those upon whom depend the carrying out of the instructions of the doctors and the watching over the patients of the hospital there must be a home for them when off duty, and which is being dedicated."

Gov. Cutler Pays Tribute.

Gov. Cutler followed with a few remarks in which he paid a tribute to the nurses and congratulated them upon having such beautiful quarters, which will be the home and place of rest for them when their duties are over for the day or night. The Governor closed by stator night. The Governor closed by stating that he had been reliably informed hat credit for the founding of the hospial was due to Dr. Bichards, who atended Dr. Groves during his illness and niggested the founding of such an instinution.

Horace S. Ensign sang a solo entified The Lord's Frayer," and the service osed with a benediction being pro-bunced by Apostle Francis Lyman.

Inspecting the Building.

An inspection of the building was then made by the church officials and the visitors. There are thirty-four rooms in the building, with quarters for the accommodation of about fifty nurses. This number includes the large receptionroom, the lecture-room and offices. The nurses rooms, which are 16x16 feet, are furnished in an up-to-date manner and were arranged very neatly.

FRESHMEN DANCE

Delightful Entertainment Given to Class at University.

Class at University.

For a time the college freshmen of the University of Utah were under the impression last evening that they had captured the bold, bad highwayman who has caused such consternation in this city during the past few days. When the men were immasked, however, they proved to be sophomores attempting to steal the receipts of the freshmen ball to make up for the loss of punch which the freshmen stole at the last sophomore ball.

It was the first slance ever given by a freshman class at the University, that is, with a pecuniary consideration attached, and it was a great success. Not only were a large number of the class members present to enjoy the affair, but quite a number of the High school students. The decorations were all in green, the color of the class of 1993, and very pretty the insembly-room looked with its festioning and smilax and evergreen, the class banners and the electroliers shaded in the same color.

WIDOW LOSES JEWELS

Gems Valued at $15,000 Stolen From Pasadena Hotel.

Pasadena Hotel.

Pasadena, Cai., Dec. 15.—Diamonds and other jewels valued at $15.000 were stolen, probably by a sneak thief, from the rooms of Mrs. James Morgan, at the Hotel Green last exening. Mrs. Morgan, who is a wealthy widow from Chicago, left for dinner at 6.15 octock, and returned to her apartments just an hour later, to find the jewels she had left in their case in a top bureau drawer stolen. The door leading to her rooms was not locked, but the hall was patrolled by a watchman. watchman

Offers Large Reward.

The jewels are particularly valued because they are the gifts of her late husband. A reward of $1000 has been offered for their return, and no questions will be asked, the hotel paying half and Mrs. Morgan the balance. Mrs. Morgan thinks she surprised a man leaving her rooms on Wednesday, when she returned from dinner, and that he may have returned to get the jewels last night.
